Justin – Thanks for the update. Can this drop inlet be clean now to resolve the drainage issue currently on her lot? I understand that it is an active construction site. Thanks.

Tammy.

We are required to have silt fence protection around our drop inlets and we have told the buyer that. My office told her it was not qhoc but the development company. We will continue to fix them as needed and continue to clean them periodically. Once the construction activity subsides in the community and vegetation is fully established we will remove them.

Thanks

Justin and Sean - Please see the drainage complaint from Pamela at 141 Currituck Reserve Parkway. Once you two discuss this, can you please let me know who is going to fix the issue and when we can expect the work to be complete?

Thank you for your help.

I live at 141 Currituck Reserve Pkwy in Wentworth. My builder is QHOC/Justin Old. I have a drainage ditch in my front yard and a drain that is fenced off by East Carolina Construction. ECC's Sean Robey who says Qhoc is responsible and Qhoc says ECC is. We have bad drainage no one had come out to fix it. The orange barricade has been there for 6 months. I can be reached at 757-650-5532
